The highly praised political thriller finally in Stockholm...

Locked Up by John Fiske

” ett tätt styrkebesked ” Andreas Jakobsson i UNT

PERFORMING AT DRAMALABBET IN STOCKHOLM
1, 2, 3, 10, 11 APRIL (FRI&SAT AT 7 PM, SUN AT 4 PM).

After a political meeting the week before the General Election in Great Britain, a man from the audience hit the Member of Parliament for Romford Town, Andrew Whitely, on the head with a jug of water. The man, James Turner, a teacher, is taken to the local police station for questioning. It transpires that the reason for the attack goes back a long way, to a time when both men were pupils at the same school . .

Locked Up is an English thriller about forbidden love, repression, and a forty-five year old secret that could destroy a man's career. It's a collaboration between Teater C and Kesselofski&Fiske which played to highly appreciative audiences in the autumn

On stage: John Fiske, Andrea Geurtsen and Paul Kessel
Director: Dag Thelander

Locked up is 1 hour long and performed in English.
